c) Reading Comprehension: Read the email between friends and answer correctly

Dear Susan:

We are in London celebrating Diwali, the Festival of Lights. This Hindu festival is celebrated by all Indians, regardless of their religion and is equivalent in its importance to Christmas in the west. It lasts around one week. The Indians worship various gods, buy new clothes, decorate houses and businesses and eat sweets. Lights are left burning all night.

I hope we can spend nice days here.

Love, Gennie.

1. Where is Gennie celebrating Diwali?

2. Have all Indians the same religion?

3. How long does Diwali last?

4. Do Indians buy new houses to celebrate Diwali?

5. Is Diwali called the Festival of Nights?

III. Cierre: Make a list of the events you celebrate in your family. Focus on WHEN and HOW you celebrate them. Use your dictionary.

For example:

- Father's day –June 21 – We celebrate our dad making breakfast and giving him presents.
